SUMMARY

A highly dedicated and certified cybersecurity professional, having completed the Google Cybersecurity Certificate to establish a robust foundation in threat detection, vulnerability assessment, and security operations center (SOC) best practices. As a passionate self-learner, I have proactively developed hands-on skills in identifying and mitigating security risks. My extensive experience in managerial roles has provided a unique perspective on organizational risk, equipping me with exceptional soft skills in strategic planning, incident management, and cross-functional team leadership—all of which are critical for developing and enforcing effective security policies.
